

Probabilistic Tuple data handler

The probabilistic data handler is the required data handler to read and write discrete and continuous data.